

Hustle Bustle on the floor...

The excitement continued amongst the preschoolers as we celebrated the festive season with enthusiasm.

Balloons Around the World Day

Children were intrigued watching a display of balloons creatively converted into different things like a fish, flower, elephant, bee etc. They took home various activities done with balloons.

No Books Day

Celebrating the birth anniversary of former President APJ Abdul Kalam as 'No Books Day', all children enjoyed their time in school playing board games, listening to stories, dancing and lot of other fun activities.

Navratri Celebration

The preschoolers celebrated Navratri with great enthusiasm. Decked in Indo-Western attire, children enjoyed dancing to the beats of dhol and claps.

Sensory Week and Math Week

Children of Playgroup & Nursery enjoyed various activities which enhanced their senses while Jr. Kg & Sr. Kg children had fun doing activities which promoted their thinking skills, pre-math and number concepts.

Various puzzles, games, worksheets planned enabled them to gain more hands on experience.

Halloween

Dressed up as spooky characters, children were thrilled to parade in the premises and sing Halloween songs.

Diwali Celebration

All the little ones across the floor painted diyas, danced to popular tunes and wished each other happy and safe Diwali

Chefs in Making

Children made and savoured a yummy snack of Taco Bhel.

Parent Teacher Meeting

At Parent Teacher Meeting, parents interacted with the class teachers and got feedback of their child's progress in various areas.

The more I see, the more I know...

Posting a letter

The young ones of Nursery had hands on experience of posting a letter to their parents.

Germination

Sr. Kg children learnt about the process of germination as they observed seeds turning in to sprouts over a period of time.

Visit to cow shed & pigeon house

Our tiny tots of Playgroup enjoyed their day out as they fed the animals & birds in their shelters.

Skits

A Bag of Salt

Children across the floor watched a series of skits like 'Eating Habits Of Animals', 'The Bag Of Salt' and 'Flippy the Frog', performed by the teachers and trainees of E.C.E. Department.

Scarecrow

Dressed as a scarecrow Yug Bhabhera from Sr. Kg C told his teacher, "On my way to school all the crows were scared of me and they were flying away."

Ten things that can hurt your child's self - esteem

Don't constantly praise your child - work towards praising specific things your child has done regardless of the outcome. Instead of saying 'you are the best artist', try saying 'this is so colourful. You took so much time and care in drawing it.'

Don't orchestrate every waking minute of your child - give children time to explore and discover what suits their fancy.

Don't say, "Everything will be alright." - help children learn how to process and best cope with difficult circumstances.

Don't speak in a self - deprecating manner - your child is always watching and listening to you.

Don't wait on your child - being at your child's beck and call is not the way to help them increase self - esteem. Kids feel more self - sufficient and capable when they are able to complete tasks and take care of themselves.

Don't say, "Forget about it." - provide empathy when difficult times threaten to erode your child's sense of self.

Don't throw in the towel - don't allow your children to hear you say, "I give up! I've had it." Pessimistic thinking is modeled just as optimistic thinking.

Don't say, "Life isn't always fair." - let your ongoing message be, "let's figure this out. What can we do about it?"

Don't make your child's life easy - help your children learn to think for themselves.

Don't aim for perfectionism - create an atmosphere in which mistakes are embraced as the learning tool they are.
